Note to Prospective Employees

Hi,

Thank you for considering Stepping Stone Trust as your employer. Once your application has been processed and you are considered a possibility for the role we will contact you to complete a brief phone-based questionnaire – all being well you may then be invited for a face to face interview. An interview to discuss job fit is essential, however it may also be important for you to show us how you function in our work environment.

To this end we may ask that you come into one of our units as a visitor to undertake some pre-employment tasks as part of a pre-employment observation. This achieves these aims:-

1. You get a feel for our work place, our client group and a small view of some of the demands within that. Not everyone is able to work in such environments and this view can assist you make a final decision about your sense of fit for this work.
2. We get to observe you engaging with clients in a recreational activity. This helps us to get a picture of your fit for us.

This is not a work trial and at this point you are not an employee or been offered a contract of employment. NB a pre-employment observation, is part of the interview process and is unpaid. After this observation, we both consider if a fit is achieved; if not, the employment process stops. If so, then we will make an employment offer to you using our contracting process.

We will provide for you an offer of employment via letter and/or Individual Employment Agreement (IEA). This will need to be signed before you start work.

If you are uncertain about this difference, please speak with the HR staff for clarity before you do your pre-employment observation.

Please sign to indicate that you have read and understood this: _____

Some people hold permanent shifts or a role and then also work some casual shifts on an as required basis; perhaps in another role.

Casual Work

You agree to be available to work on an intermittent, as required basis.

We are not obligated to contact you for work and you are not obligated to work when we do contact you. However, we do ask that you commit to work at least 3 / three shifts per 4 weeks, as less than this creates a gap in your work continuity and in relationship with our clients.

When you agree to work a shift/s on a casual basis you have then entered into a contract of employment for those agreed to shifts and the terms and conditions of employment in your IEA apply. Each separate work period (shift or group of shifts) is a new contract of employment; we will pay you annual leave at 8% as you go.

Working in a casual role gives you no ongoing rights to work in that role again, whether that is on a further casual, fixed term or permanent basis. If the role becomes available due to a change in the primary role holders circumstance, you may apply for the position alongside other candidates.

Stepping Stone Trust Application for Employment Form

If you work for SST on a strictly casual basis, we will review your terms of employment every three months to determine if your work availability remains viable around our casual roster.

Fixed Term Contract Work

Where we need a role filled for more than around 4 weeks due to a special event e.g. the role holder being on leave or for a specified project e.g. a limited contract with the DHB, we may offer you a fixed term contract.

This will have a start date and a clear, no longer than, finish date. If we do finish it early we will give you reasonable notice.

The CDHB lets a number of 1-3 years contracts to NGO's like SST; most of these will be worked on a fixed term contract based around both the event and short term project nature of the contract. Some of our FT contracts may be to cover the likes of staff ACC or study leave.

Working in a fixed term contract gives you no ongoing rights to work in that role again whether that is on a further casual, fixed term or permanent basis. If the role becomes available, due to a change in the primary role holders circumstance, or becomes permanent; or where another similar, separate project becomes available you may apply separately for that alongside other candidates.

Permanent Work

This is where you are contracted on an ongoing, permanent basis into a number of shifts or a role. You hold full legal rights under your contract to function fully within the scope of this role and the terms and conditions of employment outlined in your IEA.

Please sign to indicate that you have read and understood this _____

If you don't understand these different work statuses please contact HR to discuss this further.
